

TRIPLE ALLIANCE WILL STRIKE FRIDAY

FIVE MILLION WILL BE IDLE IN NEW ORDER

Strike Orders Have Gone Out to Rail and Transport Workers

ONLY SINGLE CHANCE

Complete Backdown By One Side Or Other Only Solution.

London, April 13.—The triple alliance has ordered its members to go on strike at 10 o'clock Friday night. J. H. Thomas, executive head of the National Union of Railwaymen made this announcement shortly before noon today. Strike orders have gone out to the railmen and transport workers to walk out at the appointed time in support of the miners who have rejected the settlement basis offered by the government and the mine owners yesterday.

Shortly after the triple alliance order was made known, the organizations of engineers, clerks and electricians formally notified the alliance that they are ready to join the strike movement; they are asked to do so. A strike of these workers would add 265,000 to the total of idle employees as follows:

Engineers and firemen 75,000; clerks 90,000; electricians 100,000.

Together with the miners, the railmen and transport workers constitute the triple alliance, directly controlling approximately 4,000,000 workers. Besides about 1,000,000 other workers, engaged in industries absolutely dependent upon the alliance, will be made jobless by the strike, so that by the end of the week the United Kingdom will see five million workers idle.

The strike, which now can be averted only by an eleventh hour backdown by one side or the other, would be the most gigantic and most complete in the history of Europe with the possible exception of the German general strike in 1918 which led to the collapse of Kaiserism and the creation of a republic.

INTRODUCE KNOX BILL TO END STATE OF WAR

Washington, April 13.—Senator Philander C. Knox, of Pennsylvania today introduced in the senate his resolution declaring an end to the state of war that has existed for four years between the United States and the former central powers.

No declaration of American foreign policy was embodied in the resolution as submitted by Knox.

The resolution was in line with the suggestion of President Harding in his message yesterday that the resolution be confined to a simple declaration of peace between the United States and Germany and Austria for the purpose of terminating the existing technical state of war between this country and the central powers.

The text of the Knox resolution

FORMER DUCHESS ONLY DAUGHTER OF KAISER, AT DOORN

Doorn, April 13.—The former duchess of Brunswick, only daughter of the ex-kaiser, arrived here this afternoon. She was attended only by one lady in waiting, Court Pastor Dryander, (correct) who is to conduct the mourning service for the ex-empress Augusta Victoria, is expected here today.

That part of Wilhelm Hohenzollern's property here known as Yskelderbosch will be sold on May 25, it was announced today. The reason for the sale was not divulged.

TRAP SHOOT WILL BE HELD THURSDAY

The fourth trap shoot under the auspices of the gun club of the Xenia Country Club, will be held Thursday afternoon at the shooting range at the Country Club.

The weekly shoots are growing in popularity and each week sees a large number of marksmen trying for the clay pigeons. Thursday promises ideal shooting weather, which it is thought will add to the quota of gun men, who try their skill each week.

SENTENCED TO YEAR BY DAYTON JUDGE

Anna Kelly, 30, of this city, was sentenced to spend one year in the Convent of the Good Shepherd, at Marysville, by Judge Roland Baggett, of Dayton, Tuesday, for child desertion.

The woman is alleged to have left her two-year old son with a colored woman on Joe street, Dayton, a week ago last Tuesday, and she was arrested by Dayton police on the charge Saturday night. The boy was given to John Kelly, the child's grandfather.

Soviet Russia Returning To Pre-Revolution Basis

Great Modification In Internal Economic Policy Of Nation Apparent—Co-Operative Societies Are Authorized.

Riga, April 13.—It becomes daily more apparent that there has been a great modification in the internal economic policy of the Russian soviets.

Moscow dispatches show that village life has been practically restored in its pre-revolution status. A decree promulgated by Lenin authorizes the re-establishment of the cooperative societies in Russia and invites them to aid the soviet government which they have hitherto opposed.

The cooperatives, who have maintained organizations in England, France and Germany are now discussing the question whether they will accept Lenin's invitation. The first modification was effected three weeks ago when the soviet premier permitted the resumption of free trade between peasants and workmen and abolished speculation in grain. He also permitted peasants to hold their land for nine years, rescinding the order for land redistribution at this time. His recognition of cooperative societies is regarded as an important step toward resumption of trade with non soviet countries. Other decrees issued at Moscow abolish food speculation in the cities and offer an incentive to the people to go back to the land and work the farms.

UNEARTH PLOT TO KILL CHARLES

Paris, April 13.—A plot to assassinate Emperor Charles of Austria has been discovered at Lucerne where he again resides according to a dispatch from the Swiss city to the Petit Parisien. The alleged conspiracy was revealed to the police by a private detective. Several foreigners who were equipped with false passports were arrested. The prisoners had grenades in their possession.

CARRANZISTA TROOPS CLASH WITH FEDERALS

Mexico City, April 13.—The first clash between Carranzista troops led by Francisco Murguía, and federal troops in the state of Coahuila, took place yesterday afternoon, the war department, has just been informed. A small band of insurgents headed by Murguía personally and Candio Aguilera, son in law of Carranza, was routed and its leaders fled into the hills, hotly pursued by the government forces.

FIRST IMPROVEMENT STEPS ARE TAKEN AT MEET AT SPRING HILL

First steps toward the beautification and improvement of possible parking districts in the Spring Hill section were taken at a meeting held at the Spring Hill school house Tuesday evening, and called by Dr. B. R. McClellan, chairman of the city beautification committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

As a result of the meeting, committees are already at work, the first task for beautification being the improvement of the property owned by John T. Barnett, between Home avenue and Shawnee creek. A committee consisting of Mrs. H. C. Sohn, Mrs. J. A. North and Miss Matilda Evers, has been appointed to investigate flowers and price for the beautification of that area.

Another committee consisting of Judge H. L. Smith, L. D. Wilson, H. C. Sohn, and Dr. B. R. McClellan, will call on the City Commissioners in regard to having debris removed from the property. It is planned to have G. W. Gaines and Mr. Johnson, former O. S. and S. O. Home gardener, plan a parking space in the area.

Another meeting of the committee will be held Friday evening at the school house at which time reports of committees will be received, and other people interested in beautification whether Spring Hill residents or not, are urged to attend.

CARPENTIER WILL SAIL FOR U.S. ON MAY 7, IS WORD

Paris, April 13.—Georges Carpentier will sail for the United States May 7 to start training for his championship match with Jack Dempsey, it was learned here today. It was also announced that Carpentier who is touring Spain has refused an offer of $100,000 for three bouts in Australia against Billy Slade, and American fighter.

URGES RETURN TO PRINCIPLES OF JEFFERSON

Bryan Declares Democrats Must Change Policies

QUOTES FORMER CHIEF

Economy In Public Expenditures Was One Desire.

Miami Fla., April 13.—William Jennings Bryan, three times candidate for the presidency, declared in a statement here today that a return to the principles of Thomas Jefferson is the Democratic party's only hope of restoration to power. The statement was issued in commemoration of Jefferson's death nearly a century.

"Jefferson," said Mr. Bryan's statement, "believed in a government which shall restrain men from injuring one another and shall leave them otherwise free to regulate their own pursuits of industry and improvement."

"The two parts of this sentence balance one another. Some have emphasized on the words 'leave them otherwise free' and ignored the first part of the sentence. The words 'otherwise free' are not intended to suspend or weaken the demand that that government shall restrain men from injuring one another. It is necessary to restrain big corporation-made men and there is no occasion to discuss 'otherwise free' until this restraint is made effective. Prohibition is intended to 'restrain men from injuring one another' and no one has a right to quote Jefferson in support of a policy which would leave liquor dealers free to injure their fellows."

"Jefferson believed in economy in public expenditures and in equal and exact justice to all. Democracy must believe in the same today if it is to live up to its name and be worthy of confidence."

"Jefferson believed in peace, commerce and honest friendship with all nations, entangling alliances with none. We need his spirit today. Jefferson has been dead nearly a century but his political code is the only basis upon which a Democratic party can stand today, and the applying of his ideas to pending problems offers the Democratic party its only hope of restoration to power."

U. S. RELATIONS WITH PANAMA ARE STRAINED

Washington, April 13.—The relations between the United States and the Republic of Panama were brought to the breaking point today when the Borrás government of the little republic flatly refused to comply with this government's virtual demand that Panama accept the White award as a basis of settlement in her boundary dispute with Costa Rica.

The refusal of the Panama government to accede to this government's wishes in the matter was contained in a formal reply to Secretary of State Hughes recent note receipt of which was announced at the state department today.

While there was no official announcement as to the next step to be taken by this government to enforce its demand, it was indicated that the state department is not in a conciliatory mood in the matter. The logical next step would be for the United States to send an ultimatum setting a definite time limit for the Panama government to comply and in the event of non compliance to accept the consequences. That the consequences would embrace intervention there is little doubt.

NAVAL AVIATORS PREPARE FOR SHIP-PLANE BOMBING TESTS

One of the seaplanes which will be used in the tests, showing bombs attached beneath the wings, and a close-up of sailors fastening bombs to one of the planes.

Naval officials in charge of the water and air craft are preparing for the tests to be held next June to determine the value of the old battleship type of naval defense against the modern air craft in warfare. The relative merits of seaplanes and giant sea-going ships have been under discussion since army aviation officials, in fighting a slashing of the aviation appropriation, charged that the battleship was obsolete and worthless against air fleets. The tests to be made will determine what damage aerial bombs will do to battleships and how effective is the marksmanship from a plane. The plane shown above is one of the B-F-L type of seaplane which proved serviceable in the flight from San Diego to the Canal Zone a few weeks ago.

ANOTHER PEACE CONFERENCE IN WASHINGTON IS FORESHADOWED BY PRESIDENT HARDING'S ADDRESS

Washington, April 13.—Another peace conference, to be held this time in Washington instead of Paris was foreshadowed today by officials in commenting upon the pronouncement in President Harding's message against a separate treaty with the central powers.

The president's declaration that the United States cannot ignore the old world relationships and settlements already effected, means that America is again to take her seat in the councils of the world, high officials said, and it was pointed out that the complexity of the problems presented in the sharp conflict of interests make it extremely unlikely that these negotiations would be conducted in any way other than at the conference table.

This does not mean however that the effort to negotiate a treaty satisfactory to all the powers concerned may not first be made through ordinary channels. Secretary Hughes has conferred frequently with Ambassadors Geddes, Jusserot, Shidehara and Ricci and he has talked at length with former

Premier Viviani. Presumably he is not unacquainted with the limits to which the countries represented by those statesmen would be willing to go in accepting modifications of the treaty of Versailles. No secret is made of the fact however that much ground still remains to be covered. The United States is going to use the present treaty as a working basis for two reasons, it was made plain today:

First, to make sure that American rights and privileges are confirmed and secondly to see that the economic readjustment, in which every man, woman and child of America is deemed to have an interest is made fairly and with reasonable expedition.

To accomplish these ends some contractual relation of all the interested parties is necessary, the administration believes that the treaty of Versailles, minus the league of nations covenant and other "inadvisable commitments," is expected to prove the readiest means at hand.

The world cannot get started on its way back to normal condition, it is argued, until the problem of German reparations has been settled. America is immediately concerned in ending the present impasse in Europe in such a way as to permit the world to resume its normal relations. There is no disposition on the part of this government to assume a truculent attitude but the administration is prepared to exert all its influence in the defense of what it conceives to be the rights and privilege of this nation.

With the decks cleared for action by the ending of the state of war, formal negotiations for a treaty can be opened. The Versailles treaty now is in the hands of President Harding. The simplest procedure it was suggested today would be for the president and Secretary Hughes to go over the document, eliminate the league of nations covenant, interpellate such reservations and qualifications as they deem necessary and after consulting senate leaders and sounding out foreign ambassadors present the treaty to the senate.

There is of course the possibility that in this manner the treaty could be moulded into such shape as to be acceptable to all—the senate, the allies and to Germany but officials who watched the long drawn out proceedings at Paris and who have studied the situation in Europe since the pact was signed believed no such long distance negotiations will succeed there must be another gathering of the statesmen of the world and they believe that Washington is the place for such a gathering.

Patrolman Shoots Wealthy Grocer Following Quarrel

Officer, After Arresting Son of Slain Man, Forced To Use Gun When Father Attempts To Aid His Escape

Ironton, O., April 13.—Henry Farmer, prominent and wealthy grocer, was shot and instantly killed at his home here shortly before 1 o'clock this morning by Patrolman Hayes Reed. The officer had arrested Farmer's son, Charles in company with a woman, a few moments before the shooting. The son and woman were taken in for street walking.

When the patrolman was passing the Farmer home, en route to the city prison, young Farmer asked permission to go into his home. The patrolman agreed, but accompanied him to his home. Inside a quarrel started when young Farmer attempted to escape. The patrolman used his club on the boy and the elder Farmer interfered, and according to the officer, struck him and pushed him out into the front yard. The officer pulled his revolver and fired at Farmer, the bullet penetrating his heart, killing him instantly. The patrolman surrendered immediately to the chief of police and will be held pending an investigation.

WESTEND RESIDENTS WITHHOLD ACTION UNTIL THURSDAY

Although citizens of the Cincinnati avenue neighborhood in the West End are still much incensed over the condition which has filled their cellars with water, no action will be taken until the regular City Commission meeting Thursday night, it is said.

At that time the committee composed of W. E. Kearney, E. C. Schweibold and E. H. Hunt will present the question to members of the Commission and ask for some sort of relief. While the matter is being talked of considerably in the section that is affected by the back water, it is not believed that the agitation will take the form of circulating a petition to ask for relief, until after the Commission meeting Thursday night.

MOVE EIGHT STORY OFFICE BUILDING BACK FORTY FEET

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 13.—The Joseph G. Woodruff Building, an eight story office structure, is moving into a new location today in one of the country's most startling engineering feats. The building, weighing 10,000,000 pounds, is being moved 40 feet to permit widening of the street on which it is located.

Engineers used pulleys and powerful screw springs to bring the structure from its foundation. It will be dropped on 12 concrete pillars. The feat includes retention of 1200 square feet of sidewalk which is being moved as part of the building. During the movement elevator, water heat and light service was uninterrupted.

CHILD WELFARE STANDARDS ARE TO BE RAISED

League Of Women's Voters Discusses Program

TO MAKE DEMANDS

Ohio Women Named For Offices Of New Organization.

Cleveland, April 13.—Recommendations urging that child welfare standards be brought up in each state by legislation where necessary, endorsing the principal of physical education in schools through state action and the enforcement of child labor and school attendance laws with adequate machinery for enforcement, also provision by law for the protection of maternity and infancy in every state in the union; legislation requiring protective standards for women in industry and rigid compliance in the matters of social hygiene; these programs will be voted upon as presented by the three standing committees at the regular convention session of the National League of Women Voters this morning.

Promptly at 9 the second convention session was called to order by the chairman, Mrs. Maud Wood Park. Delegates were arriving and in their chairs as early as 8:30.

At the session Tuesday evening a resolution to send the president a message of gratitude for his mention of the maternity bill in his address to congress was adopted. The message will be handsomely embossed and delivered in person to the president by chosen delegates, who will leave for the White House after the close of the convention.

Names submitted by the nominating committee for officers include: Mrs. Maud Wood Park, Massachusetts, president; Mrs. Richard Edwards, Indiana, first vice-president; Miss Sherwin, Ohio, second vice-president and Mrs. Solon Jacobs, Alabama, secretary. For first regional director, Miss Katherine Ludington, Connecticut; second region, Mrs. F. Louis Slade, New York; third region, Mrs. Julian B. Saley, South Carolina; fourth region, Miss Elizabeth J. Hauser, Ohio; fifth region, Mrs. James Paige, Minnesota; and seventh region, Mrs. C. B. Simmons, Oregon.

Additional names suggested include Mrs. Herbert Hoover, California, Mrs. Frank Vanderlip, New York; Mrs. Helen H. Gardner, district of Columbia, and Mrs. Robert J. Burdette, California.

It is understood that the committee on resolutions is considering the question of disarmament and women's share in international relations, and will probably submit proposed legislation to the convention.

Miss Elizabeth J. Hauser will preside at the fourth regional luncheon this noon.

The legislation program will continue through the afternoon with Miss Mary McDowell and Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, the speakers and nominations from the floor.

Songers by Mrs. Newton D. Baker, and addresses by Judge Florence Allen, Will Irwin and Mrs. Catt, are scheduled for the large mass meeting to be held at the Masonic hall tonight.

STATE OF SIEGE IN ATHENS IS NOW PROCLAIMED THERE

London, April 13.—The Greek assembly today adopted a resolution declaring a state of siege in Athens, according to a dispatch from the Greek capital.

The internal situation in Greece has been increasingly critical ever since the crushing defeat of the Greek army by the Turks some ten days ago. King Constantine's throne has been reported to be again "shaky." Fresh reserves have been called up and attempts are being made to rally the hellenic people for another offensive against Mustafa Kemal's nationalist forces. Last reports of the military situation were extremely gloomy from the Greek standpoint, Constantine's army having been completely rolled up and thrown back upon the defenses near Broussa. Venizelos who was virtually exiled when Constantine returned to the throne was reported to be hastening to Athens to aid the government in the crisis.

Dayton, O., April 13.—Attracted by the diligent way in which Andy Wargo topped off his ash barrels, the police investigated and say they found ten gallons of ratin jack and three gallons of other liquors. Wargo was locked up.

BASEBALL SEASON STARTS; KING SWAT AS POPULAR AS EVER

ARMY OF BASEBALL FANS EAGERLY SEES OPENING OF SEASON

By JACK VEOCK
International News Sporting Editor
NEW YORK, April 13.—With cheering thousands looking on, the baseball season was opened by the major and several of the big minor leagues today. Old King Swat came back to his own with a vigor that proves beyond the shadow of a doubt the popularity and solidity of the national pastime.

Though shaken by inter-league disputes and the 1919 baseball scandal,

THE INDIANS CAN'T BE KEPT FROM ANOTHER PENNANT

By NORMAN E. BROWN

They will be watched with keen interest. Perhaps more interesting than any of the others is Ty Cobb, who is piloting the Detroit Tigers. Cobb's work as a manager will be of great value to him in the future.

Regardless of happenings in the past, baseball was welcomed back heartily by the great army of fans. The game itself is too great to be wrecked by the mistakes of a few misguided and near-sighted players. The American and National leagues started their pennant races with bright prospects for one of the most successful seasons in their history.

In the junior major league, the world champion Cleveland Indians helped the Browns pry off the lid at St. Louis; the reconstructed White Sox invaded Detroit; the hopeful New York Yankees took on the Athletics at the Polo Grounds and the Boston Red Sox met the Senators at Washington.

John McGraw's New York Giants helped the Phillies open the National League season at Philadelphia. The champion Brooklyn Dodgers clashed with the Braves in Boston; the Cubs, under Johnny Evers, entertained the Cardinals in Chicago; and George Gibson's snappy Pittsburgh Pirates met the Reds in Cincinnati.

PACIFIC LEAGUE WELL UNDER WAY

The American Association, the Southern Association and the Western League also opened their seasons today. The Pacific Coast League race, which started April 5, is just getting well under way. The International League will open its season a week from today.

With prospects of great races in the major leagues the club owners are looking forward to a season of unprecedented business at the turnstiles.

The Yankees and Cleveland Indians are sure to set a terrific pace in the American League from the very start, while in the National League, the Dodgers, Pirates and Reds bid fair to make the pace red hot from the word "go."

MINORS TO BE HEARD FROM

The minor leagues have finally recovered from the depression caused by the war. The National Association reported twenty-two minor leagues solidly organized and making preparations to open the season as far back as March 15. Before the summer is over there will be some twenty-five minor league organizations in operation, according to indications.

While Major League players have the world's series as an incentive to urge them on toward winning pennants in their respective leagues, the minors this year, will have several "little world's series" to encourage them.

The American Association winners and the champions of the International League inaugurated a baby world's series this year. In the South the winners of the Southern Association and Texas league pennants will get together in a post-season series.

As the fans settled back to watch the stars of the diamond pry off the lid they had many figures of interest to follow.

BABE RUTH CENTRAL FIGURE

The great Babe Ruth, home run king extraordinary, was the cynosure for all eyes—some 40,000 pairs—at the Polo Grounds, where he hoped to get away on his march toward a new record by crashing at least one baseball out of the park.

The fans of St. Louis, from today on will watch the work of their two champions—George Sisler and Rogers Hornsby, winners of the major league batting titles in 1920—as they go out to defend their titles against the wiles of the pitchers.

New managers honestly sent their 1921 entries in today's games.

PRESIDENT HARDING AND WEATHERMAN GIVE SENATORS AUSPICIOUS START

Washington, April 13.—President Harding and the weatherman worked together today to give the Washington Senators an auspicious start in the American league fight under the new leadership of George McBride. The president will toss the first ball and the "weatherman" has contributed a fine spring day.

Vice President Coolidge and other high government officials are to be the guests of Clark Griffith.

General Pershing will raise the flag over the American League Park.

DODGERS HAVE A CHANCE TO REPEAT, BUT IT SEEMS SMALL

While the Cleveland Indians have every chance in the world to repeat their victory of 1920 in the A. L. melee, the Brooklyn Dodgers seem to have only a slight chance of repeating.

It's unnecessary to enter into detailed discussions as to the merits of the various players Uncle Robbie has. The dope on all the vets—and he still has the same old boys with him—was published during and before the world's series. The facts are these:

Uncle Robbie's outfit did not seem to be a pennant. They put it across last year. But at least three stand out as the best team in the National League last year. It is doubtful if Robbie would have won the pennant had the Giants held together in the closing struggles. Robbie's pitching staff got an awful jolt in the world's series. The Cleveland Indians convinced the National leaguers that Cadore, Smith, Mitchell, Grimes & Co., were far from invincible. And the entire team in the world's series didn't look to me like the club that should represent the National league in any fall classic.

THIRTY THOUSAND FANS SEE TY COBB'S TIGERS AT DETROIT

Detroit, April 13.—Imbued with the fighting spirit of Ty Cobb, Detroit's new manager, the Tigers will swing in action against the shattered Chicago White Sox at Navil Field today.

And local fandom is on the verge of hysterics. At no time in the history of Navil field has the demand for accommodations been so great.

Every seat in the great stadium has been sold out for week and standing room will be at a premium, it was predicted. Conservative estimates place the attendance at 30,000, weather permitting. But the weatherman was not smiling on Detroit fandom today.

FURNISH MAIN EVENT

New York, April 13.—Jack Sharkey and Midget Smith will furnish the last big main event of the boxing season at Madison Square Garden May 2, Tex Rickard announced today. Several other matches will be made to complete the card.

STILL CHAMPION

Des Moines, Ia., April 13.—Ed "Strangler" Lewis is still the heavy weight wrestling champion of the world. He defeated Earl Caddock, former title holder in two straight falls, using the headlock in both instances.

IMMENSE CROWD SEES OPENING TILT AT CINCINNATI

Cincinnati, O., April 13.—All is set for the opening of the national league baseball season here today between the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Cincinnati Reds. The weather is delightful, players full of pep and confidence and an immense crowd of fans will witness the opening tilt.

"Babe" Adams, for the visitors, and Luque, the Cuban wonder, will do the pitching. Manager Moran will make a speciality of double plays this season and yesterday had his men working hard on that angle.

All reserved seats have been sold and more than 25,000 people are expected to attend the game which will be called at 2:30 p. m. The Pirates arrived at noon from Louisville and Manager Gibson announced that they were ready for anything the Reds could hand them.

MAJORS PREPARED FOR WORK

For the most part the sixteen major league teams started the pennant races pretty well prepared physically to hop right into a season of hot competition. As usual, there were pitchers and fielders with sore salary wings and there were Charley horses here and there that slowed up some of the regulars, but the spirit of competition was as keen as of old and the spirit of the fans as happy and spasmodic as ever before.

Figuring that today marked the opening of the season in five leagues, the National, American, American Association, Southern, Western and Texas Leagues, it was conservatively estimated that more than a quarter of a million fans trickled through the turnstiles.

CAPACITY CROWDS EXPECTED

Capacity crowds were expected at most of the major league openings. The management of the Yankees confidently looked forward to a crowd of 38,000 to 40,000 for Babe Ruth & Co. had Greater New York to itself.

In Chicago where John Evers is extremely popular, the Cubs were expected to draw upward of 20,000 with the Cardinals as their guests and with the champion Indians as an attraction the St. Louis Browns figured to attract a crowd equally as large. In other major league cities crowds ranging from 12,000 to 18,000 or upward were looked for.

The quartet of games in the American Association, with Indianapolis, Louisville, Milwaukee and Kansas City playing at home was expected to draw close to 50,000 while games in the three Class A leagues—Western, Texas and Southern—figured to attract some 75,000 sun gods.

GAMBLERS' BEWARE!

Everybody connected with baseball from Judge K. M. Landis down bristled with confidence and optimism as the curtain went up today. Ang with the beginning of the pennant races the campaign against gamblers also got under way with private detectives sprinkled through the stands in every major league park.

The powers that be in the national game are determined to keep it clean henceforth and will leave no stone unturned to discourage and punish the element that succeeded in turning the heads of the eight indicted White Sox players in 1919.

heat of the pennant drive last year and did great work, has the advantage of that experience and weeks of training under the eyes of Speaker and Scout Jack McAllister. He has learned among other things the proper way to whip the ball to first without settling himself. He has, thereby, learned to get the ball to first quicker and with greater accuracy. He hit like a fiend last fall and has had more big league pitching to solve this spring.

Speaker has a perfect double attack to work against right and left-hand hitters. Spoke plays center against both kinds. When a south paw is on the mound he sends Evans to left and Wood to right.

The Indians have one more valuable asset. That's a pinch hitter in Jack Graney, veteran left fielder. Jack can pinch hit, so to speak by waiting out a rattled hurler or bunting as well as by slamming the ball.

And, backing up the playing strength of the team, Speaker has Chet Thomas, Les Nunamaker, brainy players, and wise Scout Jack McAllister on the bench to size up the opposition and help meet any new attack.

The Yanks, with their slam-bang-ing, leather-murdering bunch of sluggers and two good pitchers may give the Indians a battle, but there seems to be no chance of heading off the Tribe.

OVERRULES CLAIM CHANGING SITE OF TRIAL FOR DAMAGES

Judge Martin, in Common Pleas Court Tuesday, overruled the claim of Timothy Mangan, of near Xenia, that the $15,000 damage suit against him should have been filed in the Greene County Courts.

The suit is based on damages alleged due in an automobile accident. Judge Martin held that a suit growing out of an automobile accident may be filed in the county where the injured person resides or in the county where the defendant resides.

The action was brought against the local man by Lucy B. Clark, 36 Park avenue, for injuries alleged to have been received in automobile collision three miles east of Xenia on November 6, 1920. Mangan brought suit in the local courts first but was not awarded any damages by the jury.

SAYS HUSBAND OFTEN DRUNK

That the defendant was drunk once every two weeks during their married life, is the claim of Rebecca Chaney, in her suit for divorce from Samuel Chaney, filed with Clerk of Courts C. S. Johnson Tuesday. The couple was married April 24, 1920. The petition charges that the defendant would stay drunk for two or three days on those occasions, that he was abusive and used loud and profane language and on two occasions the police had to be called. The last occasion was April 9, when he tried to get a revolver and threatened to kill the plaintiff, according to the petition. Plaintiff asks to be restored to her maiden name, Dunham.

MRS. FESS GIVES PAPER ON PRESIDENT

An interesting paper upon "The New President and His Cabinet," written by Mrs. S. D. Fess, wife of the Ohio representative was read at the meeting of the Junior Woman's Club, by Mrs. Marshall Wolf, and Mrs. Steele Poague, Tuesday afternoon. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Harry D. Smith on North Galloway street.

The other paper for the afternoon was given by Mrs. Crawford Craig, and was upon "Contemporary English Poetry."

The honor guest of the evening was Miss Florence Kelble, the affair being arranged for the announcement of Miss Kelble's engagement, to Mr. Frank Rudd of Lenoir City Tennessee.

Miss Farrell's guests numbered fourteen friends of Miss Kelble. The evening was spent by the guests with music and contests the prize for the evening's entertainment, a lovely guest towel, being won by Miss Kelble.

At a late hour the guests were invited to the dining room where a delicious salad course was served. Preceding the refreshment course, the announcement of Miss Kelble's engagement was made in a clever manner, a tiny telegram being found at Miss Katherine Guilday's cover, which bore the names of Miss Kelble and Mr. Rudd.

At each place the guests found favors of dainty bouquets with streamers of ribbon.

The guests were seated at small tables in the dining room. Centering the table at which Miss Kelble was seated was a large bouquet of fragrant pink and white sweet peas placed in a crystal basket. Tall blue candles in crystal holders were at each of the other tables. Place cards bore handpainted orange blossoms.

Dancing and music were featured during the remainder of the evening.

The announcement of Miss Kelble's engagement is being received with the best wishes of her many friends. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kelble of West Second Street this city. Her marriage to Mr. Rudd will be an event of the early summer.

Those who enjoyed Miss Farrell's hospitality were the Misses Margaret Mullen, Ethel Swan, Gladys Shadrach, Regina Kelly, and Marguerite Beley, of Dayton; Catherine Guilday, Louise Parrott, Thelma Flannery, Lois Benbow, Margaret Poland Alice Foley and the honor guest Miss Kelble.

DYSPEPSIA IS GREATEST ENEMY OF MODERN MAN

Distressing Malady Is Most Prevalent of All Present-Day Diseases—Thousands Are Relieved by Tanlac.

Of all the conditions that afflict humanity, chronic dyspepsia, or what is more commonly known as indigestion, is probably the most prevalent. This most universal malady has baffled the medical profession for years, and the most skilled specialists have been unable to cope with it successfully.

Hours might be consumed in describing the sufferings, mental and physical, of the sufferers from chronic dyspepsia and their failure heretofore to get relief. A morbid, unreal, whimsical and melancholy condition of the mind, aside from the nervousness and physical suffering, is the usual condition of the average dyspeptic.

Dyspepsia, or indigestion, as the case may be, is usually caused by the eating of too much or unsuitable food, and the mucous membrane of stomach becomes irritated, and there is set up an acute or sub-acute gastric catarrhal condition which prevents the proper digestion of the food. This food is apt to ferment and decompose, and as a result the familiar distressing symptoms of dyspepsia may arise. In mild cases there is nothing more than an uncomfortable feeling in the stomach, with a certain amount of depression, headache, loss of appetite, perhaps belching of gas and occasional vomiting. There may be also accompanying intestinal symptoms, such as constipation, pains in the back, colic, etc. There may be only the familiar heartburn due to the inflammation of the stomach from excessive gases of fermentation or putrefaction. In the most severe cases—those that last over a day or two—the symptoms enumerated may be much more intense. The distress may be marked and the general constitutional symptoms more evident. When this stage is reached the loss

P. R. R. CELEBRATES ITS 75TH BIRTHDAY

This division of the Pennsylvania railroad, is receiving the customary slaps on the back Wednesday.

The blowing of whistles on yard engines at 12 o'clock noon, Wednesday evening, proclaimed that the road is celebrating its 75th birthday. The whistles blew for several minutes and reminded many of the noisy celebration of the first Armistice Day.

Permission to buy the road, which was originally the Little Miami railroad, was granted in 1836, but work did not begin until much later. The road was not completed until 1845, but the railroad dates its birth from 1844, making it 77 years old. Columbus, O., April 13—In recognition of the fact that today is the 75th birthday of the Pennsylvania railroad, every locomotive and factory whistle on the system joined in a 30 second continuous blast at noon. American flags were raised over all stations, shops and buildings owned, or used by the railroad.

LOCAL BALL FANS SEE OPENING GAME

Martin Berry, Alva Blair, and William Long, were among Xenians, who went to Cincinnati Wednesday to witness the opening of the National League baseball season, between the Cincinnati Reds and the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Manager Pat Moran, of the Reds has this year assembled a team that is composed practically entirely of youngsters, only three members of the 1919 World's Champions being left, after numerous trades, sales and hold-outs. The Pittsburgh team, on the other hand, is rated as one of the strongest from that city in many years and has been picked by Hughie Fullerton, baseball scribe, to win the pennant in the older league. The outcome will be watched with interest by fans in this city.

BLAST VICTIM DIES

Akron, O., April 13.—Lawrence Gropy, 28, of Canton, died at the hospital this morning, and became the second victim of the explosion which wrecked the mixing room at the Miller Rubber factory yesterday.

Static electricity is now believed to have caused the explosion.

FILE REPORT OF SCHOOL ACCOUNTS AT AUDITOR'S OFFICE

The report of school and township accounts in Greene County, from the period from October 24, 1917, until February 21, 1921, has been finished by the state department, and a copy is on file at the office of County Auditor R. O. Weed.

The report was made out by State Examiner John Hoegner, who examined the books of school and township authorities here. It took from December 28, until February 21, to prepare it. It covers expenditures minutely and offers few criticisms. The report is now a public record and can be seen at the Auditor's office.

BIBLE PSYCHOLOGY COURSE TO BE OPENED AT REFORMED CHURCH

Rev. E. W. Middleton will begin a course of Bible lessons Wednesday evening, April 13, 7:30 o'clock, continuing each Wednesday evening on "What the Bible Teaches about the Soul," its faculties, conditions, development, experiences and its destiny. The following are some of the topics.

- 1—Man, the likeness of God.
- 2—Sin, the alienation of the soul from God.
- 3—Personality, the faculties of the Soul.
- 4—Regeneration, the new life of the Spirit in the soul.
- 5—The soul and Spirit in death—immortality.
- 6—The soul and the Spirit in resurrection—glorification.

Bible teachers and truth lovers are cordially invited to these lectures.

Mr. Middleton comes thoroughly qualified as a teacher of these subjects, having been professor of psychology in the Philadelphia Seminary, Philadelphia, Pa. Come and hear them. They are worth while.

TWO XENIA GIRLS ARRESTED IN DAYTON TUESDAY AFTERNOON

Mary Hardy, 16 and Nettie Holdman, 21, this city, were arrested by Dayton police, Tuesday afternoon at Sixth and Main streets, Dayton, charged with suspicion.

Dayton police say they believe Hardy girl had run away from her home here. She was turned over to the house of detention last night, and the Holdman girl was taken care of at the central police station lock-up. Police say the Hardy girl has served time in the Girls' Reformatory at Delaware, but has been home for some time. Authorities believe she was permanently discharged from the institution.

DISCUSSES VALUE OF MENTAL TESTS ON SCHOOL PUPILS

Dr. S. S. Colvin, dean of the School of Education of Brown University, and one of the foremost psychologists of the present time, addressed the meeting of the Greene County Teachers' Association, that was held at the McKinley Auditorium, in this city, last Saturday.

The subject of Dr. Colvin's address was "The Uses and Abuses of the Mental Tests." Some of the chief uses as outlined by Dr. Colvin were, first to find out how children vary in their own group more than how different groups vary, and second, to group the children of high and low ability and to form classes of intelligence. Dr. Colvin brought out the idea that personal intelligence and personal supervision are necessary, as all things can not be determined by the tests alone. His conclusion was that if these tests were used with common sense they would prove valuable, but if they were used blindly they were worse than not being used at all.

The meeting was opened by two demonstration lessons, one in first grade reading by Miss Anna Morrow, and the other in sixth grade geography by Miss Edna Bloom, both of which were well given.

The afternoon session was opened by a double duet from the seventh grade of Jefferson Township, which was followed by a demonstration lesson in penmanship by Miss Henrietta Evers, Supervisor of penmanship in the Xenia Schools.

Dr. R. H. Grube, County Health Commissioner gave an instructive talk on "Child Nutrition." Dr. Grube stated that 9 per cent of our county school children were found to be defective Cincinnati schools are each furnished with a weighing machine and a record of each child is kept each month. This has proved a great benefit and was recommended by Dr. Grube to be placed in the Xenia schools to solve the question of undernourishment.

Dr. Grube's address was then followed by a demonstration by Mr. John of the Movietone motion picture machine, for class room use.

The program was closed by a discussion and demonstration of the manual training work, of Ross Township, by Loren Rogers. Ross township received many compliments on both the instructor and the work of the manual training department.

We Know That After All—It's Miles You're After

WE know--and you know--that "after all, it's miles you're after." A tire dealer can offer you all kinds of things, fancy treads and fine-sounding guarantees. But after all, miles are what you really want.

And that's why we're selling Dayton Pneumatic Tires. We know that on your car they will deliver a full-to-overflowing service of miles. We know they'll go skimming past the last mile post of their guarantee in the full vigor of youth.

Dayton Tires

Cords Fabrics

Start out with a tire you know you can trust—a tire that's built right from bead to tread. Insist on quality materials and quality workmanship, and insist on knowing that the dealer who sells them to you lives up to the last word of every promise he makes.

That's the way to buy miles, and the way we want to sell you miles. We investigated the whole tire field before we took on Dayton's and we know they're the best made, best-wearing, best-looking tires you can buy—tires that will give you the most in miles. We'll back them to the limit.

There are lots of things we'd like to tell you about Dayton's. Just come in and give us a chance.

Dayton Tubes are good tubes to buy, because they hold air longer and you don't have to buy so many of them. Ask us to let you feel one.

WE'LL SOON BE ABLE TO RECOGNIZE OUR OWN CHILD—THOUGH HIS PLAYMATES MAY NOT KNOW HIM AT FIRST

THE SHADOW OF A HOPE OF RELIEF FROM THE RAILROAD IMBROGLIO.

(Cincinnati Enquirer)—Compliance by leaders of railroad unions, said to represent 500,000 organized employees, with President Harding's request that they submit "labor's plan" for a settlement of the transportation problem now before the Railroad Labor Board, is encouraging. It also suggests that these union leaders are taking a less radical view of their relations and responsibilities to the public and are willing to make concessions from their proclaimed unyielding stand on the national agreements. This may be more in response to public opinion as expressed through the President than to inherent desire to yield any part of what they wrested from an alarmed Director General on the eve of the termination of Government management. At least it indicates a dawning appreciation of the unreasonableness of the attitude they have assumed before the labor board and a vision of more practical business sense at Washington than they were wont to encounter there.

The proposal may not contain all the concessions that railroad managers desire to secure. It may not express a willingness to concede all the changes in the national agreements that the executives have demanded. It may not provide for the abrogation of all the obnoxious working rules of which the executives complain. But it contains at least the admission that some of these rules are impracticable and unduly absorptive of revenues, and are possible of judicious modification. It concedes that the national agreements contain features that more properly may be reserved for local consideration. It opens the way for compromise, at least, and that of itself is a concession after their months of insistence that the agreements should be retained wholesale.

Much will depend on the attitude assumed by the executives in this new development of the case as to the course now to be taken by the Administration. There is reason to believe that the executives will find the way open to participate in the proposed conference should the President call it. If it should lead to a satisfactory readjustment of the present working agreement, such as will enable the railroads to put into effect the economies which they claim the existing working rules prevent, estimated to make possible a saving of $300,000,000 annually, it will be a good thing for transportation and for the country as a whole. If intercession by the President results in such a conclusion of the controversy with which the labor board has been wrestling fruitfully for months, it will be one of the greatest possible achievements of his Administration.

HAYS ARMS FORCE FOR MAIL BANDITS.

Drastic action to stop the recent orgy of mail robbers has been promised by Postmaster General Hays, after he had conferred with his corps of inspectors.

The Postmaster General announced the handling of valuable mail would be put back on the basis it was in the West a generation or more ago, when armed postal employees carried mail by stage or horseback and fought for the honor of the service. Mr. Hays said the department had made a standing offer of $5000 reward to any postal employee who brings in a mail robber. It is to be open war with the bandits from now on and the Postoffice Department is to rely upon the courage of its own men.

"These robberies must stop and stop now," asserted Mr. Hays. "We are going to use every power available to do this, no matter how drastic it is. The West knows how to handle these criminals, just as they used to do in the old Wells-Fargo days."

The following order was sent out: "To any postal employee or other person who brings in a mail robber the Postoffice Department will pay a reward of not exceeding $5000. All essential postal employees will be fully armed and every man is expected to uphold the honor of the service."

As means of further safeguarding the mail, the department promises a rigid investigation of the method of handling mail, particularly registered mail. Doubtless a new system of transporting valuable packages will be advised to circumvent hold-ups.

GOOD MOTORING MANNERS.

America may be tired of drives, but there is one drive on this spring which every thinking motorist, at least, will welcome. It is a drive for better motoring manners.

The leading motor manufacturers are back of a campaign to promote courtesy among car drivers. It is intended to reach the operator of the car in the crowded city and to appeal with no less potency to the tourist out on the country highway.

In most of the cities traffic laws and police have motor regulation pretty well in hand. But out on the pike, all too often the careful driver of town becomes the speed maniac and the road hog. Under the plan to control this tendency it is suggested that dealers take pains to compliment good driving and consideration at every opportunity, that they preach road courtesy whenever they have a chance and insist that their drivers observe proper driving etiquette. Under the latter head are included stopping to permit another car to turn, slowly down at bad corners, warning of bad and impassable roads ahead, keeping well to the right of the road and various other observances which make for comfort and safety.

If individual motorists will take up the good work, good motor manners will soon be the rule of the road and motoring will be robbed of those terrors which now frequently make both driving and riding a series of nervous shocks.

Get Ready for Hot Weather By Purifying the Blood

Many people simply melt in summer. They can't work or enjoy life. They lack vitality. Ten to one their blood is impoverished. Rich, wholesome blood is the basis of vitality. If you have it, you sturdily withstand summer temperatures. But if your blood is poor, loaded with poisons that should be cast out, you are limp and useless in "shirt-sleeve" weather.

To avoid this, get from your druggist S.S.S., the famous vegetable blood tonic and alterative. It is just the thing for poor blooded people. After starting S.S.S., write us about your condition and we will send you expert medical advice free. Address Chief Medical Advisor, S.S.S. Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Georgia.

1901--Twenty Years Ago--1921

Mr. Ernest Schmidt has returned to his school duties at the Kenyon Military Academy.

Jacob Marsnall who recently sold his butcher shop in Spring Valley is now employed at the meat store of Fritz Saenger in this city.

Mr. Joseph L. Dunn and H. G. Marcy, two of the capitalists interested in the purchase of the Xenia water works plant, who have been in this city for several days, returned to their home in Wilkesbarre, Pa., last evening.

At a meeting of the state board of equalization in Columbus yesterday Mr. Joshua Barnett of this county, our member of the board, succeeded in obtaining a ten per cent reduction of the valuation of real estate for the city of Xenia. Several months ago, Mr. Barnett succeeded in getting a ten per cent reduction on the valuation of the real estate for the county and this means a saving of many thousands of dollars in taxes.

Mr. L. F. Clevenger is now at Buffalo, New York, working at the Pan American Exposition. He is assistant manager of the candy department. His firm has exclusive control and has twenty-seven stands on the Exposition grounds.

TIPS ON GARDEN MAKING

Asters, Garden Harmonizers.

In the late summer and fall months, nature's color scheme seems to decree a preponderance of yellow and reds, forerunners of the gay colors of autumn foliage. The asters now developed into rivals of the chrysanthemum in their big feathery spheres of bloom offer a relief of soft colors in both the annual and perennial varieties which are a relief to the prevailing glare of the reds, oranges and yellow.

No garden is complete without a goodly supply of asters for masses of soft colors and for cutting. No finer subject for bouquets for decoration of the home can be grown so easily.

Asters should be started early for midsummer bloom. Outdoor planting will bring them along in September when their beauty is equally welcome, but July and August should have their display as well. Early strains and early planting will bring about this result.

There are now two well developed types in general, the late branching and the comet or ostrich plum types. Both should be planted.

Asters need rich soil, full sun and good cultivation. They are attacked by one serious pest in their maturity, the aster beetle. This black devourer usually comes in August in flocks and droves and eats the flowers and buds and as mysteriously departs after a stretch of two or three weeks. Arsenical poison, such as arsenate of lead or weak Paris green will kill this beetle, or he can be knocked into a pan of kerosene flamed water by hand and destroyed, but too many escape by this process. Late asters for a sure crop are the best solution for the average gardener who has had his hopes of a beautiful aster crop ruined.

Asters are as easy to grow from seed as radishes and a box of seed in the house, the hotbed or even the cold frame will give the desired early start. Transplant them from the seed boxes to other boxes about an inch and a half apart if the best and sturdiest plants are desired.

They should be placed at least a foot apart in their beds and cultivated with light hoeing to keep the soil stirred at intervals all summer. Bone meal raked or hoed into the soil is an excellent fertilizer for asters, provided the soil has been enriched. A general rule is that good vegetable soil is good aster soil. It is not a good plan to plant asters in the same place in succeeding years.

MRS. E. S. ANKENY CALLED BY DEATH AT AGE OF 88 YEARS

Mrs. Elizabeth Sydney Ankeny, 88, died at her home one mile north of Trebeins, Tuesday morning, at 9:30 o'clock. She had been ill a week, death being due to the infirmities of age.

Mrs. Ankeny was born December 3, 1832, in Sugarcreek township, and had spent all of her life in this county. She was the widow of Nelson Ankeny who preceded her in death 20 years. Four children survive.

Funeral services will be held at the late home Friday afternoon at two o'clock and interment will be made in Beaver Cemetery.

INVESTMENTS.

Many otherwise sane people lose all sense of discretion when it comes to making investments.

During 1920, fabulous sums of money and untold quantities of Liberty Bonds passed into the hands of stock salesmen.

Much of the stock purchased is entirely worthless. None of the stock so freely purchased is comparable with Liberty Bonds in safety of principal.

No matter how plausible and convincing the stock salesman's story may be, it is well to remember that his advice is interested advice. He gains if you buy. He makes his living by selling stock. Bear in mind that it will not do a nite of harm to wait a day before buying. Before you invest, take the time to investigate.

Any banker will gladly give you disinterested advice on investments. He is a specialist in judging securities. You need not hesitate to ask his opinion. At least hear what he has to say, even if you finally decide to go counter to his advice.

For people with but a moderate amount of money, Government bonds are the best and safest investments. Do not worry about the market quotations on your bonds. You buy bonds to keep, not to sell. The interest coupons are always cashable at their face value. And when the bonds fall due they will be paid in full.

Before you invest, investigate.

THE OLD WAY.

I courted Jane for many years—'twas either eight or nine—before she wiped away my tears, and said she would be mine; whereat I rose and gave three cheers, and thought my luck was fine. And I knew much concerning Jane, ere she became my bride; she had the sense, when there was rain, to rise and step inside; and she was good, and in her brain there was no foolish pride. And she was sweet and calm and wise, her temper well controlled, and at the fair she took the prize for butter bright as gold, and she could bake the smoothest pies a man's insides could hold. And Jane knew me exceeding well ere courting days were done; she'd studied me for quite a spell, and didn't shy or run what time the sexton tolled his bell, announcing we were one. That distant day I fondly view, the memory survives, when I went to the church and drew the best of female wives; and no divorce court ever threw its shadow on our lives. Now youths go courting half a day, and then their love confess; and damsels, thinking marriage play, look coy and answer "Yes," and then they're spliced and trot away to harvest their distress. And marriage proves a weary tramp across a soggy lea, and he's a boob and she's a vamp, and they can ne'er agree, and lawyers take their final stamp to get her a decree.

MIDWEST LEAGUE OF BASEBALL CLUBS SUCCESSFULLY FOR MED; IS HIGH CLASS

Denver.—High class independent baseball for the fans of Colorado, Wyoming and Western Nebraska is assured with the completion of the organization of the Midwest League of Baseball Clubs.

The new league will open April 27 and continue through to late in September.

Disappointed at Denver's failure to land a berth in the Western League, the new organization, with Denver, the "Mile High City," as a pivotal point, has been launched through the efforts of George Tebeau, nationally known in baseball circles, and Rick Ricketson, prominent Western sporting writer, who has been chosen president of the league.

The new venture, a strictly independent six-club circuit, has granted franchises to Casper, Greybull and Laramie, Wyo.; Scottsbluff, Neb., and Sterling and Denver, Col.

The new league claims unlimited financial backing. Three of the cities Casper, Greybull and Laramie, have the support of the Midwest Refining Company, the largest oil concern in the West. The Sterling and Scottsbluff clubs are backed by their local commercial associations, while the united support of fandom in Denver and vicinity is strongly boosting for the club in the Colorado metropolis.

George Tebeau owns the franchise in Denver. Tebeau organized the American Association, the Western League was the sponsor of the National Baseball Association. He has managed clubs in various leagues of organized baseball, being at the head of the Denver Club when this city held a franchise in the Western League and won several pennants.

Ricketson is a young Denver attorney and is widely known in sporting circles west of the Mississippi River. He has been sporting editor of several newspapers in Colorado, Kansas and Missouri.

Salary Limit Fixed.

Each club in the new circuit has posted a forfeit of $1,000. A salary limit of $4,000 a month, and a player limit of fourteen men has been agreed upon. The schedule adopted calls for games every day, including Sunday, from April 27 to the close of the league season, which has not been definitely decided, though it will probably be about September 20.

That the league may cause some trouble for organized baseball in the minor groups was indicated by President Ricketson's declaration that the new organization will not regard the so-called "reserve clause" of organized baseball as binding.

"We will respect the contracts of organized baseball as long as they respect the contracts of the Midwest ball clubs," Ricketson said. "We will not, however, respect the reserve clauses of any organized baseball club, and will make no attempt to affiliate with the National Association."

"We will leave it to organized baseball to start any 'sniping,' and if they do, they will find our organization ready with the best antidote—a little of the same medicine."

"Organized baseball hasn't seen fit to consider Denver's claims for a berth in the Western League; too much consideration shouldn't be shown their wishes," was the attitude of the league president.

Players already signed for the new league make it appear like a Class AA organization. The Casper club has Rolla Maples, St. Louis Cardinals pitcher, John Maples, pitcher, on the reserve list of the Pittsburgh Pirates; Joe Slattery, the veteran first baseman; C. H. Jackson, Minneapolis outfielder, and several players from the Pacific Coast League.

Denver has under contract "Buzz" Murphy, of Minneapolis; "Liz" Smith, from Fort Worth, Tex.; Bert Graham of the Pacific Coast League, and "Red" Donovan, a Western League hurler.

Spirited Fight Predicted.

Managers have been secured by all six clubs, and a spirited fight for the position, and whatever goes with it, is predicted. Very few youngsters will be seen in the league, as efforts

Ohio Woman Praises External Remedy Which Stopped Suffering.

Note. It would be illegal to publish these statements if they were not true.

Mrs. D. A. Wilt, 45 Lincoln St., says in her own home paper, the Columbus (Ohio) dispatch: "I had an exophthalmic goitre and suffered beyond description for three years; I was a nervous wreck and in a terribly run down condition. I had almost given up in despair, when a friend advised me to use Sorbol Quadruple. Two bottles have practically cured me and restored me to much better health in every way. I am glad to answer questions about my case, even by letter."

Sorbol Quadruple comes in small bottles containing enough for most cases. It will not stain or irritate. Leaves the parts in healthful, normal condition. Requires ten minutes daily.

ATLANTIC FARMERS FORM CO-OPERATIVE ORGANIZATION, SAID

New York.—Organization of co-operative marketing associations under the same plans adopted by the growers of the Pacific Coast is being undertaken by farmers of the Atlantic Coast States, according to J. F. Langner, adviser to many of the larger farmers' co-operative marketing associations on both coasts.

Nine different groups of New York state farmers are now effecting organizations while the Potato Growers of New Jersey are well advanced in organization work.

The Pacific Coast system of co-operative farm marketing has been adopted by the egg producers of New Jersey in an effort, according to Langner to compete successfully with the California, Oregon and Washington poultrymen who are shipping their goods to New York and commanding a premium in the markets because of the quality and grading of their products.

The New Jersey organization plan a non-capital, non-profit stock association and is retaining Aaron Sapiro, San Francisco attorney, as counsel. Commenting on the necessity for the formation of Atlantic co-operative organizations for farmers, Langner said:

"The farmers in nearby points to the New York market are now facing conditions of a more serious character than any that have previously confronted them. They formerly had first call on the New York, Philadelphia and Boston markets. Now the Pacific Coast is challenging, not in any casual way but with the finest type of farmer organizations ever conceived and with the highest principles of merchandizing developed. The Pacific coast is shipping apples, eggs, oranges and a thousand different farm products to the East and is selling its products in competition with local growers. Such a condition, of course, cannot last. The growers either have to abandon their farms or organize to meet this competition."

AN EDITORIAL ON ADVERTISING

The advertising of merchandise is the consumers' guarantee of merit.

In his advertising the manufacturer, over his own name, makes claims for his goods which must be lived up to. Consumers look for the qualities advertised, and if they fail to find them promptly transfer their patronage to another brand.

Advertising is a two-edged sword. It gives the consumers the advantage of knowing exactly who disappoints them. No one realizes this more keenly than the manufacturer. So with him it is a principle of good business as well as honor to make his goods measure up to his advertising claims.

Manufacturers brought constantly before the public by their advertised goods are usually men of high character who make their goods as represented. But in addition to this, the educational force of advertising is such that the consumer is assured of honesty and quality because every reputable publication and advertising agency demand it.

When the consumer buys unadvised goods, he gives up all these guarantees. He has no protection whatever, neither name nor assurance stands back of the product he buys.

If it is poor, he has no recourse. He does not know who has cheated him. The dealer is only the intermediary. He, himself, may have been cheated in the goods.

In buying advertised products, the consumer makes sure of goods manufactured on honor and sold on honor. He has the price advantage that comes from the big market built by the manufacturer's advertising which by increasing the output decreases the cost of each package or article, and enables the manufacturer to take a smaller individual profit on account of his great volume of business.

From every standpoint, the consumer is the gainer in buying advertised goods.

DEPLORES CRITICISM OF SMALL TOWN BY "NEW YORKERS"

With their first whiff of New York air, some people forget their home town. Not so Anna Seaburg, head of the town work of the Y. W. C. A. at their National Headquarters in New York City. Moreover Miss Seaburg believes that you have got to come to New York to appreciate your home town!

"There's a big streak of Main street's faults in New York or anywhere else—not just in towns of two thousand," says Miss Seaburg, who was not only born on an Ohio farm and spent her girlhood in small rural towns, but within recent years has made an intensive local study of eighty six towns scattered all over the country.

She believes that Sinclair Lewis, who although born in Sauk Centre, Minnesota, has attracted wide-spread attention by depicting the faults and petty jealousies of small town life in his novel "Main Street," is unfair. "The best side of our home town that makes us love it, is ignored; the kindly, sincere, and hospitable side," she says. "Why in the procession of stupidly, tiresome, self-satisfied and even ugly characters which he depicts as typical should not there be others like the doctor's mother, only casually mentioned, a woman of the prairie, with a hushed and gentle breeding and integrity, and a disdain for prying? There are plenty of phototypes to prove the existence of such people in small town life everywhere."

NEED BUSINESS ROOMS IN GREAT SUPPLY REPORT

Washington C. H., April 13.—Probably never before in the city's history has there been such a pressing demand for business rooms as at present, and it is stated authoritatively that a dozen good business rooms would find occupants in short order.

The pressing demand for additional business rooms is due to normal growth of the business interests in this city, and several firms are seeking and cannot find, available rooms, while outsiders who thought of locating here cannot do so for the reason that no business space is available.

HUGHES IS FOURTH SECRETARY FROM BROWN UNIVERSITY

Providence, R. I.—With the appointment of Charles H. Hughes, a graduate of the class of 1881, Brown University now has the distinction of having four graduates who became Secretaries of State. Only two colleges, Harvard and Princeton, have equalled the record. Brown's per capita production for the State's portfolio is unique—roughly, one Secretary of State for every 2,000 graduates.

Evidently young men who have definitely given up the idea of being Presidents of the United States and who would be satisfied to be Secretary of State should prepare at one of the following five colleges which are here given with their individual records:

Sixteen colleges have produced.

one Secretary of State each. Eight Secretaries of State as far as can be determined never went to college. Among them were John Marshall, Henry Clay and Martin Van Buren.

AUTO TURNS OVER; OCCUPANTS ESCAPE

Washington C. H., April 3.—Four persons were in a Ford touring car that turned over on Circle avenue late Saturday night at the D. T. & L. tracks.

Going too far to the right the driver, said to be from Bloomingsburg, did not see the deep ditch beside the tracks.

None of the occupants of the car were seriously hurt. The top of the car was demolished.

When Sleep Comes Back

Wednesday Health Talk No. 32.
By G. C. DONOHOO, D. C.

When sleep deserts you, then strength departs. It is a great day when sleep comes back.

Loss of sleep is due to pressure on spinal nerves affecting the brain. Seemingly the victim of this ailment cannot stop the train of thought. Lack of ability to rest brings on extreme nervousness, often times the victim fears that he is going to pieces and may even fear for his sanity.

When the chiropractor by his skillful adjustments restores the joints of the spine to alignment and removes the pressure on spinal nerves which is causing this trouble, the patient experiences a relaxation that is all the more profound because of the need of the exhausted body. Strength is rapidly regained once the ability to sleep is regained.

UNABLE TO RELAX OR SLEEP BUT CAN NOW

"I had not slept more than three hours out of every twenty-four. After my husband died I could not discuss my business affairs with my attorneys without "going to pieces." When I tried chiropractic I was desperate. After the first adjustment I slept fourteen hours. In forty more, I was a new woman, able to sleep all night, and eating what I wanted. Chiropractic should be welcomed as the greatest panacea of human ills."—Mary Miles Baker, Chiropractic Research Bureau Statement No. 12561.

A prominent society woman suffering from neuralgia decided to consult a noted specialist in nervous disorders.

The physician listened attentively to her symptoms. "Madam," he said, impressively, when she had concluded, "I can guarantee to cure you only in one condition—the removal of every tooth in your mouth."

"Will you stake your professional reputation on that?" she asked, anxiously. "I certainly will," said the doctor.

"Very well," replied the society leader. She placed her hand to her mouth and removed two complete sets of false teeth!

"Let me kiss those tears away," he begged tenderly. She fell into his arms and he was busy for the next few minutes. And yet the tears flowed on.

"Can nothing stop them?" he asked breathlessly.

"No," she murmured, "it is hay fever, you know. But go on with the treatment."

"Call yourself a good district attorney? Why, you haven't scored a conviction in the last twenty cases."

"But think how pleased the taxpayers will be at the low cost of prison maintenance."

"It took Blobson five hours to drive three pigs out of his front garden last night."

PROPER HAIRDRESSING

Whenever I receive a letter asking for suggestions about dressing the hair, I always feel perfectly helpless because it is so difficult to tell anyone whose face has not been seen, how her hair should be dressed. There are always general rules that can be given but that is about all.

Usually a long face or a thin face looks best if the hair is combed down over the forehead. An exception to this is when the features are beautifully molded, for then a long face assumes a classic beauty when the hair is brushed smoothly back.

A short or a round face generally looks best when the hair is brushed from the forehead, but brought out over the ears. But there is an exception to this also; for when the forehead is too low, it looks best if the hair is pulled down over it a little.

The most becoming place for the knot of hair is directly in back on a line even with the nose. A more grown-up effect is produced when the knot of the hair is high enough in back so that it comes above the forehead. This gives a piquancy to the profile and looks well when the nose is either too large or too small, and is the only way to soften the bad lines of a receding chin.

As a rule, the hair should be dressed to show the outline of the head, but if the back of the head is not nicely rounded a better line is achieved by a large soft looking knot. The most unbecoming way to wear it is parted in the middle with a knot at the nape of the neck. But even this looks well with a good profile if the hair is combed in to show that round line at the back of the head and then twisted into a knot on the back.

Nancy C.—The Cleansing Cream is used merely to remove dirt from the pores, and should be wiped out of the skin as soon as it has softened the skin and dirt which the pores have taken up from the surface. If your skin is inclined to be dry, do not use a vanishing cream. Your skin should have enough natural secretion to act as a base for powder. The Fine Cream has many uses, especially if the skin is dry or poorly nourished. You can massage it into the face before retiring or after bathing, and should follow it with a piece of ice or a dash of cold water.

Miss Freckles—Lemon juice rubbed into the freckles each night will help to bleach them. A cream that has cucumber extract in it will also act as a mild bleach.

Blue Eyes—You can secure the treatment you want at any good beauty parlor.

Thankful Susan—You can keep your hair light by using lemon juice and soda in the final rinse, after the shampoo. The proportions are a tablespoonful of juice and a third of a teaspoonful of baking soda, to a quart of water. Your hair seems too dry, which is the reason for it breaking off. You should massage hot, crude oil into the scalp the night before the shampoo, and tie up the head so the bed linen will not be stained from it. Massage the scalp daily or have the vibrator used on it several times each week.

M. E. A.—Chapping is caused by an abnormal dryness of the skin which permits cracking of the surface. In winter, the oil of the skin is not so much in evidence and the skin is apt to suffer by reason of this condition. You may help this by using a cream or some olive oil, gently rubbed into the lips before going out. Be sure that the skin is perfectly dry before exposure to the cold air.

Tell Me—All starchy or oily foods are fattening and sugar may also be included. You can easily see which foods to avoid if you keep this in mind. From the list you send, I find the fattening foods are potatoes, pastry, candy, cake, cocoa, peanuts, pork, bacon and sausage. White bread is also fattening. Among the vegetables beets are fattening, because of the sugar in them.

A Constant Reader—As eczema comes from so many causes, it would be difficult to treat it without that understanding. Some relief may be obtained by bathing with a weak solution of boric acid. A reliable physician should be consulted.

Perplexed—Your skin needs to be nourished by a good cream. Use a cleansing cream liberally and remove this with hot wet cloths, which will open the pores. Follow this by a massage with some good cream, until the skin has absorbed all that it needs. If you have a vibrator, use it gently in place of the massage. Wipe off all surplus cream and apply a small piece of ice all over the surface that has been treated.

Mrs. S. B.—I would suggest that you find something to do that is needed in your neighborhood. A married woman with leisure need have no trouble finding employment. If you must remain at home, you can take care of children at so much an hour. If you have any taste for sewing, you should be able to earn money easily. Or the making of cakes or home made bread will be an occupation that should be the means of earning extra money. But whatever you do, charge a proper price for your time and labor. The two things you mention could not be handled at home.

S. K.—You are quite correct in your statement that eating meat twice a day will aggravate a bad condition of the kidneys. Your friend would be in better health if she ate no meat at all. She should follow a special diet suited to her needs, which would be the easiest way to cure her difficulty.

MISS MABEL WOODALL DIES IN CINCINNATI

Word was received in this city Wednesday morning of the death of Miss Mabel Woodall, of Cincinnati, sister of Mrs. Lynn Wilson of this city, who passed away at the hospital of Dr. Murphy in Cincinnati, Tuesday evening. Death was due to a complication of diseases. Miss Woodall's condition being serious for the past four weeks. Miss Woodall is well known in this city having visited at the home of Mrs. Wilson a number of times. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson are in Cincinnati, being called there Monday on account of Miss Woodall's serious condition. Funeral services will be held at St. Stephen's Church, Friday morning at eight o'clock, and burial will be made at Cincinnati.

EAST HIGH NOTES

East High is a scene of continuous practices being strenuously gone through by the Seniors who will appear in "Some Class" at the Opera House, Monday night, April 18th. No doubt in the past the public became conscious of the high class productions that are presented by East High, especially last year's "Commencement Days." Such a standard is sure to be kept up to by the characters in this year's class play.

FORMER MAYOR OF XENIA IS LECTURING

Florida newspapers have been carrying large accounts of the lectures with motion pictures of W. F. Brennan, of the lecture division of the National Cash Register Company, at Dayton, who is touring Florida for his concern.

Mr. Brennan is a former mayor of this city, and well-known here. During his visit in Florida, he has been entertained by Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Kneibart, who are spending the winter in that state.

HEART-TO-HOME PROBLEMS

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of seventeen and am a senior in high school. I go to a school for girls and therefore I have not as many boy friends as most of the girls in this town. I have, however, one boy friend about twenty-two years old, who seems to think I am one of his best friends. He has asked to take me to shows on Sunday nights, but I have refused because my mother does not know him and she advised me not to.

My sister who is five years older than I am is very well acquainted with him and declares him to be "a fine fellow."

Would it be all right to accept his invitations, or would you advise me not to? He is not one of those loving, flirty gentlemen, but just a common, unadulterated youth, and I certainly would love to have a real boy friend to take me out occasionally as almost all other girls do.

Ask your mother if she is willing to have the young man call at your home occasionally. After she becomes better acquainted with him, she may change her mind and be perfectly willing to have you attend a show with him once in a while. I do not blame her in the least for objecting to your going with some one she does not know.

"Jennie": I do not give personal replies unless a stamped and addressed envelope is inclosed with the request.

Since you were only jesting about your engagement I would advise you to break it. To marry without love would be far more dishonest than to break your word. To keep him on a promise, hoping that some one better will appear, would not be honorable.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been married for a couple of years. I worry a great deal because my husband and I are both Protestants, but of different faiths. He is continually making untrue statements about my faith which hurt my feelings. It is almost more than I can bear. He wants me to join with him. Nothing would make either of us any happier than to be of the same denomination.

I told him before we were married that I could never be anything but what I am and if he thought it would cause him unhappiness, to try to give me up. He then was not willing to do that and now it is the only thing that mars our happiness. Please advise me what to do. We have a darling boy who makes the situation more painful to us. I am a constant reader of your letters and enjoy them so much.

Since your difficulty about religion is the only thing that mars your happiness you ought to be able to come to some sort of an agreement. Perhaps you could consider a compromise wherein you attend his church with him on one Sunday and he attends yours the next. If, however, he is inclined to be antagonistic, I scarcely believe the latter way would work out well. Your husband would only be more resentful after a morning at your church. In some families where both parties sincerely try to adjust the question of religion they alternate churches with perfect harmony. Religion is a thing which should not be argued.

"Worried Mother": Buy the herb, larkspur, at the drug store. Make a strong tea of it and wash your little girl's hair in it. Let the tea dry on and do not rinse the hair in clear warm water for several hours. While the hair is drying, pick or comb out the nits.

MODERN WOMAN'S HAIR STYLES ARE ONLY APING THE ANCIENT PERUVIANS

Berkeley, Cal.—The modern woman is aping the ancient Peruvian in her change of hair styles, according to Paul L. Faye, associate curator of the Anthropology Museum of the University of California and lecturer on anthropology.

"Some years ago women wore high pompadours; today they carefully muffle up their ears. In spite of minor departures there seems to be for the elegant female but these two ways of modifying the appearance of her hair. When a length effect has lived out its novelty, a breadth effect is tried," he says.

The same two lines of variation may be detected, Professor Faye declares, in the custom of head, deformation, or head-compression among the ancient Peruvians.

Of course the anthropologist admits, the mountain dwellers of the Andes could not make their heads over at a moment's notice but in the succession of generations alteration were gradually effected.

In the effort of the Peruvian warriors to make their heads look a little more attractive than in the natural state, interesting results were produced.

A collection of these highly-deformed Peruvian skulls has been acquired by the Museum of Anthropology of the University of California through the generosity of the late Mrs. Phoebe A. Hearst, and has been placed on exhibition in the Egyptian room of the Museum. Found in the collection of South American antiquities of the late Mrs. Phoebe A. Hearst for many years a regent of the State University, some of these highly-deformed skulls are considered good examples of organic anomalies, such as the os incae, a supernumerary cranial bone, and bestial sutures, a survival of embryonic life.

Adherence of hair and skin to a large number of the skulls, in a perfect state of preservation, is held to have been possible only because of the dry climate of the Andes region and to the precautions taken by Peruvians to embalm their dead. In some cases the hair presents a dull, reddish hue, almost a rich blond. This is said to be not a hereditary feature but at discoloration undergone in the individual's life and observable even today of the living Indian.

HEALTH IS A WOMAN'S GREATEST ASSET

Contrast the cheerful happy woman with head erect, the glow of health on her cheeks, the elastic step and bubbling enthusiasm as she goes about her daily tasks, with the woman who suffers from backache, headaches, dragging-down pains, nervousness and despondency. Such conditions are undoubtedly caused by woman's ailments which will yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for many years has been restoring weak, ailing women to health and strength. Every woman who suffers in this way owes it to herself to at least give it a trial.

TO GAIN WEIGHT

RECIPES FOR A DAY.

Thick Vegetable Soup—For the stock save the tail end of a porterhouse steak, which has enough fat for that purpose. After the stock has been made, scald one cup each of diced turnips, carrots and one cup each of diced celery, cabbage and potatoes in boiling water. Cook in one quart of boiling water thirty minutes. Add the stock, which should measure one quart, and salt and paprika. Let simmer until vegetables are tender. The imperial sticks are made by cutting slices of stale buttered bread into three-quarter inch strips and browning in oven.

Asparagus Salad—Drain one can of asparagus and chill. Use following dressing: Three tablespoons each of vinegar and melted butter, one teaspoon salt, one-quarter teaspoon paprika, one teaspoon salt, three-quarters chopped parsley and chives, and one medium sized cucumber pickle and green pepper chopped fine. Mix salt with paprika, add pinch of black pepper, vinegar, butter, cucumber pickle, green pepper, parsley and chives; mix well and pour over chilled asparagus.

Spice Cake—Cream one cup sugar and one-quarter cup of butter thoroughly. Add one well beaten egg and one-half cup sweet milk. Sift one and one-half cups flour and one and one-half teaspoons of baking powder together and stir into the other mixture. Beat well and add one teaspoon each of allspice, cinnamon and nutmeg. Bake in a bread pan, coat with caramel icing and cut in squares.

DESSERTS.

Lemon Pie—Grate the rind of one-half lemon and then strain out the juice of two lemons and strain. Now place in a saucepan one and one-quarter cups of water, three-quarters cup of sugar, eight level tablespoons of flour.

Dissolve the flour and bring to a boil. Cook slowly for two minutes and then remove from the fire and add the juice of the lemons and yolks of two eggs, beaten to blend, and add two tablespoons of melted butter.

Let cook. Now line a pie plate with pastry and then turn in the lemon filling, sprinkle over one-half cup of coconut and cover with a top crust. Bake in a slow oven for twenty-five minutes.

To the whites of two eggs add two-thirds cup of jelly. Beat with an egg beater until the mixture holds its shape. When ready to serve on the pie pile on as a meringue.

Sponge Cake—Place in a bowl three-quarters cup of flour, five tablespoons cornstarch, two level teaspoons baking powder. Sift and then place in a second bowl two-thirds cup sugar, yolks of two eggs, one tablespoon butter.

Cream until a very light lemon color and then add six tablespoons water. Beat the proper flour and then beat to blend thoroughly. Fold in the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs and then bake in well-greased and floured oblong pan in a slow oven for thirty-five minutes.

BRITAIN SLOW TO RECOVER HER TRADE LEAD IT IS LEARNED

London.—"It is idle to deny that the hopes we held a year ago that there would be a reconstruction of shipbuilding and a revival of trade by this time have not been fulfilled."

This was the keynote of the address given by the Duke of Northumberland at the annual conference of the Institution of Naval Architects. The Duke was elected president of the institution for the coming year and it was in the course of his remarks while acknowledging the honor conferred upon him that he gave at some length his views of British naval supremacy—occasionally in a somewhat pessimistic strain.

"We are faced today with one of these periodical phases of depression which shipbuilding, like every industry has encountered," said the Duke. "I believe, that even the most experienced and far-sighted business men never anticipated that it would come so early and so suddenly."

Labor's Descent
"This result has, no doubt, been rendered more acute by a host of factors which are not directly connected with the war."

"We have been—and still are—suffering from a ferment in the ranks of labor which is not really due to war, but is the most pressing of all problems today."

"After the armistice a wave of exaggerated optimism swept over the country. It was reflected in politics by schemes of reconstruction involving an outlay beyond the country's means and entailing also the maintenance and extension of Government control over industries."

Labor vs Nationalization
"In the sphere of labor this optimism took the form of imagining that the laws of economics could suddenly undergo a change and that private enterprise and capital could be superseded by some new system in which all the profits of industry could be distributed among manual workers."

"Still it is impossible to doubt that labor is realizing the fallacies of the various forms of nationalization which have been advocated in the last few years, though it cannot but be the subject of the deepest national and social concern that the truth should have been realized only at the cost of the suffering entailed by widespread unemployment."

Continuing, the speaker said that the main cause of the stagnation of industry and present unemployment was largely due to the strikes and threats of strikes in the mining and iron industries. It was this, he said, which had driven Britain's foreign customers to order large supplies of coal from America and had thus deprived this country temporarily of its export trade.

Future Presents Difficulties
"Perhaps none of the problems today present greater difficulty than the future of naval construction," said the Duke, in conclusion. "We might pride ourselves on the fact that we had succeeded in solving similar problems in the past."

"If we have not always been first in inventive science we have always been pre-eminent in the greater wisdom which consisted in the adaptation of means to an end, which as the goal clearly before it and with a due sense of proportion, avoiding all extreme courses of action, utilizing every invention of science for the attainment and maintenance of that object which was the end and aim of all their efforts—Great Britain's supremacy on the sea."

CONDUCT TEST RUNS AT URBANA FOR FIRE FIGHTERS

Urbana, April 12.—The first test run with a view to establishing the time necessary to make an average run was made to Urbana. Furniture company plant by the Urbana fire department about 6:30, Monday morning.

A false alarm was turned in at the Urbana Furniture company plant by Fire Chief George Donovan at 6:26 o'clock. The alarm was unexpected by any member of the fire department at either station, but regardless of this fact the first station truck arrived at the supposed scene of the fire at 6:28 and within a half minute later was ready to throw water. One minute later Truck No. 2 arrived. The time of this truck was cut down because of the longer distance necessary to travel and the poor conditions of Gwynne and Oakland street.

Chief Donovan is planning to make a number of these surprise runs.

The run Monday morning covered a distance of about a mile. When the alarm was turned in some of the men at station number one were shaving.

WHAT TO EAT TO PUT IRON IN YOUR BLOOD AND MAKE YOU STRONG

PHYSICIAN TELLS HOW IRON-CONTAINING VEGETABLES SUCH AS LENTILS, SPINACH, APPLES, ETC. WHEN REGULARLY TAKEN WITH ORGANIC IRON BUILD GREAT STRENGTH AND ENDURANCE

At their own doors—in the very gardens of those who are weak, nervous and ailing all the while is one of the most valuable tonics and strength-builders known to medical science, said Dr. James Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.) and the Westchester County Hospital, New York, when consulted recently.

Dr. Sullivan further said:—"If your daily diet contains an abundant amount of iron you are giving your body the red blood food it craves. But if your blood lacks iron and is thin, pale and watery you cannot expect to be strong and well. On the contrary, your nerves become weakened and you become irritable, fussy and easily upset. In such cases, what you need is iron—organic iron to remove the cause of your trouble, and the moment organic iron is supplied it is often wonderful how quickly your multitude of symptoms will disappear and how strong and vigorous you will become." But be careful to distinguish between ordinary metallic iron which people usually take and true organic iron.

Iron: Metallic iron is iron just as it comes from the action of strong acids on iron filings, while organic iron is a true red blood food, like the iron in your blood itself and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. In fact if you will eat a pint or two of spinach, half a pint of lentils and three or four baked apples each day you will probably not need to take any other form of organic iron; but most people prefer to eat a smaller quantity of iron-containing vegetables and take organic iron, like Nuxated Iron, with them. It is like taking extract of beef instead of eating pounds of meat. To prove to yourself what Nuxated Iron can do for you, get your doctor to take a specimen of your blood and make a "blood count" of your red blood corpuscles; then take Nuxated Iron for a month and have a new "blood count" made and see how your red blood corpuscles have increased and how much stronger and better you feel; see how the color has come back to your cheeks, how steady and strong your nerves have become. At all druggists.

The Revolt of Vera Sanderson

By JANE PHELPS.

A PLEASURABLE EVENING
CHAPTER 14.

We had a very jolly dinner and a delightful time altogether. The motion picture was good, and then Keith took us home in a taxi. It was a lively night and we drove through the park and along the river. Sallie was delighted.

"You don't seem a bit like an old married couple tonight," she said when Keith held my hand. "I was afraid you'd let Vera act too much married. You see she never has been about like I have. She was always babied at home."

I felt like slapping her, it was so funny. She knew as well as I did WHY I was kept in the background at home—that the lack of money to dress me, and the idea that the oldest girl must be married before the youngest received any attention, was the reason.

"Aren't too much married are you, Vera?" Keith asked.

"No indeed, as long as I am married to you!" I answered, happily, I was happy. It was such a treat to have Keith all to myself, and to act naturally.

It was only 10:30 when we reached home. Keith went into Margaret's room, leaving the door open. Distinctly I heard:

"Why, Margaret dear, what has happened? What are you weeping about?" His voice full of anxiety.

"I knew it would be like this when you married. I knew I would begart know where we are when we
